

Six Years in the Hanoi Hilton: A Story of Survival, Resilience, and Hope

In the annals of American military history, few stories are as harrowing or inspiring as that of James B. Stockdale, who spent six years as a prisoner of war in the Hanoi Hilton, a notorious prison camp in North Vietnam.

Stockdale was a decorated naval aviator who was shot down over North Vietnam in 1965. He was captured and taken to the Hanoi Hilton, where he was subjected to years of torture and solitary confinement. Despite the unimaginable hardships he endured, Stockdale never gave up hope. He developed a code of conduct for himself and his fellow POWs, which helped them to survive the ordeal.
